PROPERTY. To the power of 22

Most businesses rely on property to support their core business even in an increasingly digital world.

It's the place where work is done, things are made and ideas are spawned. It gives business a physical presence. It expresses brand, showcases products and services and inspires people.

Property is diverse. The type of property used by organisations can range from office, retail, industrial and residential through to specialist facilities intertwined with the business operation. It could be a local, single site or an extensive national network, owned or leased.

So not surprisingly, property is also complex. It involves long term commitments and inherent risks. Property related costs (whether owned or leased) are typically the second biggest cost for a business (after people).

Making sound property decisions that minimise risk, reduce unnecessary cost and provides the opportunity property-based change can bring sector-specific experience, strategic acumen and commercial acuity.

COMMON POINTS OF FAILURE

While many businesses have well-developed property planning, management systems and resourcing in place, many continue to see property as simply an administrative task. At times they apply focus to specific projects or initiatives but for the most part, the property function inhouse is left in a business-as-usual mode.

TwentyTwo works across a wide range of clients and sectors through its full suite of advisory services. Through this work we see a number of common points of failure.

With the right mix of expertise, systems and experience, these risks can be quickly mitigated.

FAILURE #1

Businesses leasing or owning property that is no longer aligned to core business needs.

FAILURE #2

Businesses continuing to occupy aging property that is no longer fit for purpose; resulting in compliance risk, seismic risk, health and safety risk, obsolescence and extensive capital costs to rectify.

FAILURE #3

Businesses having poor data and reporting on their property/leases, and consequentially a poor understanding of the true cost and risks of this investment.

FAILURE #4

Businesses making uninformed leasing and owning decisions, as they undertake inadequate due diligence, agree to over-priced commercial terms and accept unnecessary risks.

FAILURE #5

Businesses assigning property management to in-house staff who might be inexperienced in complex decisions and property management or alternatively, having senior management getting involved in activity that distracts from their role and core business.

FAILURE #6

Boards, directors and senior managers not integrating property decisions into wider business planning, resulting in a lack of strategic alignment and adhoc decision making.

SOLUTIONS

To the power of TwentyTwo

TwentyTwo works with each client in an interactive way to understand their specific challenges and how we can co-design a solution that best meets their needs.

Typically we engage with new clients using a four step process:

STEP 1. FORENSIC AUDIT

The best way to tailor a lease administration or property management solution is to intimately understand the portfolio including the current data, reporting and other information held by the client. This data could be held in an existing database system, a simple spreadsheet or in a series of physical files.

Either way, working alongside the in-house team we undertake a forensic review of the data held and verify this against the source documentation like lease documents for example. The objective is to ensure there is a "single source of truth" in place.

This process not only helps validate the data and identify any missing information or anomalies, but provides a great insight into the nature of the portfolio and issues likely to arise when the management is led by TwentyTwo through our PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup> platform.

The Forensic Audit provides three deliverables:

- Audit Report: Summary advice identifying the key risks and issues arising and clear guidance on the how any gaps are closed or issues resolved. Risks may include a looming rent review or missed lease renewal for example.
- 2 Property & Lease Summary: A one-page summary sheet to provide a working file for each property. The one-page summary sheet captures all key data in an executive summary form for ease of reference.
- 3 Portfolio<sup>22</sup> Dashboard: A one-page infographic snapshot of the portfolio capturing the key facts, financial metrics and KPI's in visual form.

STFP 2. ESTABLISH PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup>

Working seamlessly with the client's team, we will put in place a Transition Plan to migrate all source documentation, data and other relevant information into TwentyTwo's PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup> platform. This includes agreeing the appropriate database and reporting tools.

STEP 3. MANAGE PROPERTY PORTFOLIO

Once the data is migrated, TwentyTwo will take over full responsibility for managing the portfolio on a day-to-day basis. This includes:

- » Managing all day to day activity;
- » Managing the database, all client files and records;
- » Managing all critical dates/events and advising on key decisions needed;
- » Managing all business-as-usual rent reviews, lease renewals, operating expenses reconciliations and related decisions;
- » Providing advice for annual opex and capex budgeting and cashflow forecasting*;

- » Providing a monthly Portfolio Performance Report including the PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup> Dashboard;
- » Dealing with any questions/queries or issues arising either from the clients staff, service providers or third parties like landlords for example (ASK<sup>22</sup>).

*For those clients requiring the outsourcing of all rental, operating expenses and other payments we operate a separate Trust Account and accounting services through our Xero platform.

STFP 4. TRANSACTION AND ADVISORY SUPPORT

At the point the client requires specific advice for a major lease event, transaction or project, TwentyTwo can provide bespoke advisory support for a range of issues including:

- » New leases/new sites (owned or leased)
- » Major lease renewals/renegotiations
- » Complex rent reviews
- » Lease exit/reinstatement settlements
- » Disputes or issues arising.

Our PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup> team also work across our ADVISORY<sup>22</sup> practice area and are in-sync with the latest market trends, research and prevailing conditions which PORTFOLIO<sup>22</sup> clients can access.
